SPECIAL INTEREST CLIENTS

Our speciality, is to visit and possibly spot various endemic species of the region. The birding is exceptional both on the property and in the region. The elusive Bennett's Tree Kangaroo, (Tcharibeena) lives here.

Charter options for safaris, birding, fishing, culture and general bush walking are excellent.

OUR AIM

At Mungumby our aim is to provide discerning travellers with the opportunity to visit, observe and learn about our diverse back yard. The northern rainforests to the lowland beaches, reefs, rivers and mountains, encompass one of the most bio diverse regions of Australia.

COOKTOWN REGION

Cooktown with its modern history dating back 230 years to the Quinkan country and Cape York offers an insight to thousands of years of Aboriginal culture. The preservation of the property's natural landscapes and neighbouring National Park & Wet Tropics reserves provide an in depth opportunity to develop a greater understanding of this unique natural world. From its National Park boundary on the east to the exciting Black Mountain in the West, Mungumby Lodge offers travellers a most memorable and rewarding experience.

LOCATION

Mungumby Lodge is 35 kilometres before Cooktown in the Far Northern Queensland rainforest. There is an abundance of wild life, historical attractions, spectacular rock art, unspoilt beaches and wetlands all within easy access.

ACCOMMODATION

Accommodation is in 10 comfortably appointed wooden bungalows with ensuites, outdoor patio and sitting area.

AMENITIES

The large spacious main Lodge offers an open living area that overlooks the spectacular Mungumby Creek. This is where guests enjoy their meals, are able to read or just purely relax by the pool all of which are surrounded by superb tropical gardens. There are purposely no telephones in the rooms, however fax, e-mail, and message services are available. Nature is our entertainer!

DINING

The lodge offers great gourmet home style cooking with market menus changing frequently. Special dietary requirements can be catered for if advised in advance.
